FMC Agricultural Solutions - Development Data Specialist

Business/Function Overview

Development Data Specialist will be a part of the North America Data Management team, who steward the overall data quality and processes for information generated by field research in the North America business region. This person works closely with the Product Development Managers, Field Development Reps and Technical Service Managers to ensure that high quality research and development data is generated and captured in a timely manner to enable R&D to meet the technical objectives for regional and global portfolio initiatives. The Development Data Specialist is a remote-work from home contract position reporting to the North America Development Data Manager.

Job Overview and Primary Responsibilities

- Enter and quality check data from field trials
- Provide support to a team of Field Development and Technical Service Managers on data management systems and tools
- Assist with training for R&D personnel on how to best use development information systems with assistance from the North America Data Manager, Global IT, and other Data Management personnel as needed.
- Provide input to Global Data Management team for the continued development of R&D systems and tools
- Assist with special projects designated by the NA Development Data Manager

Minimum Requirements

- BS in an agricultural field (Entomology, Plant Physiology, Weed Science, Agronomy) OR experience in agricultural research and development
  - BS Students in an agricultural field are encouraged to apply

Qualifications

- Working knowledge of FieldPro, FTMS and/or ARM
- General knowledge of agricultural cropping systems, pests, practices and products
- Understands design of protocols
- Ability to provide support to a team of FDRs, PDMs and TSMs
- Very strong computer skills
- Excellent speaking and writing skills and comfortable leading face-to-face and online trainings
- Ability to manage time and priorities in an independent work environment
- Strong interpersonal skills with a focus on teamwork and collaborative cooperation
- Strong organizational and attention to detail skills

Send Resumes to: Kylie Fulfer kylie.fulfer@fmc.com
Questions?: 559-730-8093
Students also send unofficial transcripts.